Premium Emergency Evacuation Signages

In more cases than one, fire is a result of a short circuit. Its first casualty – the electricity, and with the lights out the result is total chaos. People's first instinct is always to rush towards safety. But with thick, suffocating smoke rising, it becomes difficult to see an escape route, thus causing panic and sometimes even stampedes. The need of every premises is a state-of-the-art evacuation signage system, customised to meet the area's requirements.

While conventional evacuation signage systems are easily available, these systems pay no regard to the aesthetics of the premises. In fact, they lack so poorly in visual appeal as they are often placed in dark corners and tucked away out of sight, defeating the very purpose of these signs entirely.

The Ceasefire System for Emergency Evacuation Excellence (CSEE Excellence) solves this problem effortlessly. Created to meet and surpass international standards, its impeccable design makes for an ideal evacuation signage system. While it's tough exterior holds strong even in the midst of the flames, guiding people to safety, swiftly and efficiently. All the while keeping the premises' aesthetics untarnished.

CSEE Excellence is distinguished for its world class standard in emergency evacuation. The premium range boasts high-end technical expertise and uber class designs, making it the perfect blend of form and function.

Every 2mm-thick photoluminescent sign in the Excellence range is UV-resistant. Even in the blackest of smoke, it points you to the nearest fire escape. Available in opaque or transparent acrylic glass and brushed stainless steel variants, the signs stand guard 24x7, guiding you through darkness and dense clouds of smoke so that you reach safety immediately.

Features:

The thickness offers high resistance to impact, severe weather and the sun's rays.

A diagonal scheme across the surface reinforces the colour of the sign in the dark.

Printed directly onto the surface, its photoluminescent properties are more vivid and appealing.

The Excellence range promises you only the best designs. Which means it serves without compromising on the beauty of your premise. This dual advantage is what makes the range one of the most sought after emergency evacuation systems ever.
